

RETALIATORY LAW PASSES SENATE

action by Congress, and argued that thereafter, when such legislation is sought, the failure of the States to ratify this amendment would be used as an argument against it. Agreement to vote on Monday was then reached.

The Tobacco Question.
The tobacco question was taken up to-day by a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Finance, and a number of tobacco manufacturers were heard in opposition to the removal of any of the restrictions governing the sale of tobacco in the leaf.

The hearing was upon the Bradley amendment, which would permit the first purchaser to sell the leaf without the payment of a tax and all subsequent purchasers to make similar transfers as long as the tobacco was not manufactured in any form.

Tobacco manufacturers contended to-day that this would open the whole subject to possibility of great fraud and also that it would materially reduce revenue.

Members of the subcommittee said to-day that they would be glad to give the tobacco grower the enlarged market for which he asks, but they consider it to be doubtful whether a safe provision to accomplish this purpose can be enacted.

GOES TO GRAND JURY

Fighting Negro Sent Along on Two Charges in Henrico.

James Jonathan, reputed to be an unusually bad negro, was sent to the grand jury yesterday from the Henrico county magistrates' court after a hearing before Magistrates Lewis and Wright. He was charged with attacking Robert James (colored) with a knife and with stabbing Thomas Throckmorton in the back. He was sent to jail on the charge of stealing a gun.

Jonathan was arrested about two months ago by Deputy Sheriff Traynor, and Constable Burch. Though he has been peaceable enough since his arrest, it is said that he has always had a mania for fighting, and by this has gained the reputation of desperado. He is wanted in other places after the Henrico people are through with him.

FATALLY BURNED

Mary Randolph, of Fulton, Covered With Burning Oil While Filling Lamp.

While pouring oil into a lamp last night, Mary Randolph, colored, of 339 Orleans Street, Fulton, caught fire, and was probably fatally burned before assistance could reach her.

It seems that the lamp was still alight, and that it exploded as she bent over to pour the oil in. She was covered with flame, and was terribly burned about the face, head and body. Her screams aroused the neighborhood, and some one turned in an alarm of fire. An engine company responded, but there was no damage to the house.

The woman was attended by Dr. Conley, of the city ambulance, and was taken to the City Hospital. It was stated, however, that she could not live.

MARRIED IN A BALLOON

Couple High in Air United by Wireless Telephone Service.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SEATTLE, WASH., July 3.—Carr A. Seattle, of this city, and Miss Margaret A. Hall, of Lewiston, Mont., were married in a balloon in flight at the Alaska-Yukon Exposition to-day, the ceremony being arranged by the Ball-Wireless Men's Day Association, which had its celebration at the exposition. In the basket of the balloon, as it soared into the clouds, were only the engaged couple who had signed an odd contract to wed to-day in the balloon. The basket was equipped with a double telephone system, and the wireless variety. The wireless operator was on the ground below, surrounded by the officers of the association and an Episcopal minister, Dr. Sundstrom, who performed the ceremony. The couple, upon landing after their marriage, were presented with a purse of gold and a house was finely furnished for them. They had been engaged for some time previous to their strange marriage to-day.

SHADOW OF TARIFF CHANGES BROODS OVER PARIS SPEECHES

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
PARIS, July 3.—The American Chamber of Commerce celebrated the Fourth of July by a banquet to-night. About 250 guests were present. Laurence Benet proposed the health of President Taft and President Fallieres, of France. The shadow of the tariff changes brooded over the speeches. Ambassador White said he hoped every American would visit at least one foreign country and learn one foreign language, now that America had wisely decided to become a world power. He was often chastened when he introduced representative Americans to President Fallieres or the ministers to find that they could not speak a word of French. Nothing, he added, could be more remote from the ideas of the American government and people than to make a hostile tariff, but in the days of Drendenights and other increased expenditures every nation needed more money.

RAN AWAY TO WED

Mr. Leighton and Mrs. Cardozo Surprise Their Friends Here.

Surprising their friends, Mrs. Dula Lee Cardozo and Roscoe Leighton early yesterday morning left Richmond for Washington, and advised later in the day announced their marriage at the national capital and their subsequent departure on an extended honeymoon which will carry them to New York, Long Island, Boston and Maine.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. T. C. Boston, of 429 West Main Street, and several years ago procured a divorce from her husband, who has since married. She is the mother of one boy.

Mrs. Boston, when seen last night, admitted that she was in the secret, but that the friends of the couple, though they were aware of the approaching nuptials, had no intimation that they would occur to-day, and the news came as a surprise.

BRITISH MOVE TO SEIZE LIBERIA

300 Square Miles of Best Soil of Republic Gradually Annexed by Sierra Leone.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Much importance is attached to the forthcoming report of the commission sent to Liberia by the President to investigate the unsatisfactory conditions in that republic. Liberia's difficulties over customs administration and boundary line matters and other troubles have aggravated the uneasiness. The commissioners have made up their minds as to the recommendations they intend to submit to this government. They are to draft their individual views and then meet in Washington the middle of this month to prepare a full report.

Will Cause Sensation.

LONDON, July 3.—That the official report of the American commission recently appointed to inquire into the question of alleged British encroachments upon Liberian territory will create a sensation in the United States and be very unpleasant to the British.

Church Notices.

SEVENTH STREET CHRISTIAN Church.—Preaching at 11 A. M. by the pastor, Rev. H. D. C. MACDONALD. No services at night. Sunday School 8 A. M.

government is confidently stated by the correspondent of the Times at Freeport, Africa, from conversations had with members of the Liberian government, who accompanied the American commission to Sierra Leone. It is not believed here that any grave diplomatic complication can arise from the report, for there appears to be a tacit understanding that the British government on finding there is no proof of the alleged encroachments, will recede from them with as good grace as possible, laying the entire responsibility upon the local colonial officials.

The Times' Freeport correspondent states the commission found the British had pushed colonial authority as much as twenty-five miles beyond the recognized boundary of Liberia, thus making a tentative annexation of some 300 square miles of territory. The Times' correspondent further stated that the English officer in charge of the Liberian frontier, which mutilated in February last on account of arrears in pay, placed himself on record in a letter to the President of the African republic just prior to the outbreak of public hostilities, the disposition of the troops to violence toward the latter person in the event of their demands not being granted. The testimony given at the military court of inquiry into the causes of the mutiny held at Camp Johnson, Monrovia, fully confirms this.

What Correspondent Says.

The correspondent says: "It is understood here the reason why the American Commission visited Sierra Leone was the desire to complete their investigations of the alleged encroachments on the part of the colony upon the northwest frontier of Liberia, and also to compare the respective methods employed by either colony in dealing with questions most affecting the population of native origin. In both countries of American and English slaves, but they form an insignificant part of the population."

"It is reported at Freeport that while the American Commission is not at all satisfied with the attitude of the British on the frontier, yet they do not find the question so difficult that they cannot be solved by the cordial co-operation of the English with the American authorities."

"It appears that the British encroachments have been of the most pronounced character, extending even beyond the boundary. In a gradual manner colonial troops forced those of Liberia out of the Carrelahun district, then the Liberian District Commissioner, and finally the Liberian customs collector, and after that the Colonial authorities assumed complete sovereignty over the region, comprising more than 300 square miles of the most fertile land in Liberia, according to Liberian informants. The American Commissioners made up their minds that there could be no legitimate doubt of the territorial rights in the premises, as the boundary between Sierra Leone and Liberia was surveyed by a joint commission of both countries in 1903. In fact, it is understood that there is no claim on the part of the British that Liberian territory has not been trespassed upon."

"This aggression, combined with the course of the British representative in Monrovia and the conduct of the English commandant of Liberian troops in connection with the mutinous disposition of the latter, has created such intense feeling among the natives that there has resulted almost a boycott on everything British in the country. It is needless to say that commercial representatives and traders of every other nationality are making very profitable use of this state of affairs. There have been some rumors of a disposition on the part of the French to imitate the British in territorial encroachment upon Liberia, but there is no evidence as yet that they have taken any steps in that direction."

New Record for 100 Miles.

COLUMBUS, O., July 3.—Bob Burman, driving a Buick car, to-day reduced the world's automobile track record for 100 miles from 1 hour and 53 minutes to 1 hour and 44 minutes. Burman, after driving a Buick, Lewis Strang, and after driving a Buick, Cannon Lorimer and Dewitt, who were entered, did not finish. Strang successfully broke all records for all distances above sixty miles until the ninety-fifth mile was reached and he was passing the Buick. Strang electrically timed the Buick, and the last five miles with three naked rims.
